foreword

Usually we think of a key as a flat, odd-shaped piece of metal. It can be used to begin motion — the ignition key of a car, the key to wind a clock, the key to start a mechanical toy; or it can be used to present adventure — skeleton keys to open any door, to unlock boxes, and to reveal the contents of a trunk kept in the attic for many years. When we know from everyday use what is going to happen once the key is turned, the event becomes uninteresting, but a locked container arouses curiosity and an eagerness to know what it holds.

There is the same wonder about our unfortold futures and what they hold in store for us. In order to enter into a successful career we must be careful to choose the right keys to open the doors which will determine the success of our lives. The keys we shall use are the characteristics we develop during the time we are of school age. These traits have the same general functions as tangible keys in that they also have the ability to "begin" and to "present." They can start us off well in our chosen vocations and they can give us the assurance that we need to answer the challenges of the world today.

The keys which we may use are many. Each of our school activities helps to develop in us such desirable qualities as Responsibility, Perseverance, Sociability, Cooperation, and Confidence. In our 1954 Pioneer we have centered the record of our days at Reading High around these characteristics and the activities which help us to achieve them.

Throughout our lives numberless opportunities will knock. We have only to acquire the key, open the door, and welcome the chance.

perseverance

Perseverance is an acknowledged requirement for success, as the old adage "...try, try again" has long proclaimed. Whatever course a student may choose in high school, his diploma lies at the end of a road which requires steadfast pursuit of his goal. Working together, teachers and pupils make it possible for the persevering to take pride in work well done.

MR. RUDOLF SUSSMANN

Our Principal, Mr. Sussmann, sets us an example of perseverance by giving us at Reading High School his devoted attention and assistance. He is just in his decisions and patient with those who need guidance or help. Because of his education and experience, we know that we can place our confidence in his advice and counsel.

MR. LUKE HALPIN

Mr. Halpin, our Assistant Principal, guidance counselor, and loyal friend, is always urging us to do our best. He methodically and diligently points out to us the colleges and occupations which are best suited to our interests and abilities. All of us are glad to have him back at school this year.

english and history

Seated: Mrs. J. R. Cutcliffe, Miss M. E. Shay, Mrs. C. B. Abbott.
Standing: Miss V. Cox, Miss E. A. Batchelder.

Mr. R. Bronner, Mr. W. E. Hanlon, Mr. A. C. Bennett.

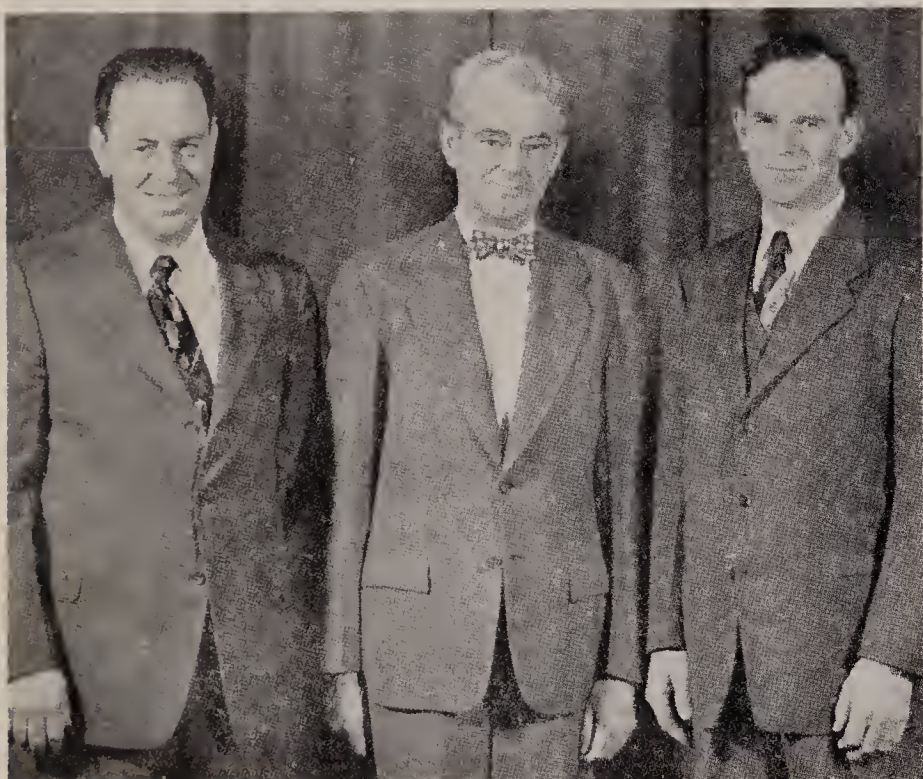

Each year English gives us five of those fifty-seven magic points necessary for graduation . . . our understanding of men and society is increased by our study of literature . . . our study of language aids our oral and written expression . . . All courses in History except the required U. S. History are elective . . . whether we choose to study ancient or modern times, the History Department offers a comprehensive program.

math and science

national honor society

Members of the National Honor Society must maintain a high scholastic average and give evidence of character, leadership, and service to the school . . . Each year the N.H.S. and the Student Council raise money to present a scholarship to a member of one of the two organizations . . . The several scholarship awards available to R.H.S. Seniors annually are tangible evidence of the benefits of persevering effort.

responsibility

To an imaginative and open mind, Responsibility is an opportune key to the future. It opens the way to maturity. Numerous activities at R. H. S. demand responsible leaders and workers. As the groups pictured in this section have realized, Responsibility is not always burdensome, for it furnishes many worthwhile yet enjoyable experiences.

PIONEER BOARD

Seated: Linda Long, Karen Metcalf, Jane de Brigard, Nancy Stewart. Standing: Irene Turilli, Leigh Bangs, Gretchen Vedder, Richard Gallant, Lois Bartosch.

Our Pioneer, a work of art, began materializing back in September under the guidance of Miss Shay, Miss Roy, and Mr. Hanlon. . . .The important student element of our yearbook, The Pioneer Board, headed by Co-Editors Jane de Brigard and Karen Metcalf, ambitiously undertook the difficult job of management. . . .The Profile Staff, directed by Co-Editors Leigh Bangs and Linda Long, and haunted by "only thirty-five words," produced the Senior writeups to appear under individual portraits in the final section of the book. . . .

PROFILE STAFF

HOMEROOM COLLECTORS

Seated: Marion Ruderman, Jane Decatur, Janice Boutwell, Marcia Johnson, Agnes Myhre, Rita Tower, Katherine Kramer. Standing: Anne Tomlinson, Nancy Fitzpatrick, Nancy Burpee, Frank Kean, Janice Murphy, Gail Wyman.

Homeroom Collectors for several months faithfully collected our subscriptions. . . Bright young workers of the Art Staff, with Jane deBrigard and Assistant Editor, Richard Gallant, pooled ideas and sketches for the layout of the book. . . The new year hailed long hours of work by the Editorial Staff, drawn from the Profile Staff. . . The copy for five sections of our Pioneer developed under Jane Decatur, in charge of Perseverance; Marcia Johnson, Responsibility; Anne Colburn, Sociability; Nancy Stewart, Confidence; and Sally Fitzpatrick, Cooperation. . .

ART STAFF

TYPING STAFF

Seated: Blanche Gosselin, Lois Bartosch, Marilyn Beck.
Standing: Beverly Snyder, Mary Lou Bennett, Virginia White.

An ambitious Business Staff, headed by Advertising Manager, Gretchen Vedder, and Circulation Manager, Irene Turilli, started canvassing the town in the fall for advertisements to finance our venture. . .and Vantine's Studio in Boston welcomed the many Seniors of R. H. S. . .An accumulation of material kept the Typing Staff, led by Lois Bartosch, well occupied preparing the final copy for the printer. . .Sophomore and Junior Editors, Patricia Latham and Merelyn Daniels, aided by Barry Hubbard, Janet Baker, and Karen Mich prepared identifications and their class histories. . .

BUSINESS STAFF

event, the Junior-Senior Reception. . .a final salute to our Senior friends. . .Sports. . . with a bright, capitalized S. . .enjoyable extracurricular activities. . .books — the total sum. . .Have we been successful?. . .we hate to boast, but now after two happy years spent at the "old" R. H. S., we are looking forward. . .with fingers crossed. . . to being equally successful Seniors at a brand new R. H. S.

Juniors always enjoy supporting a worthwhile project.

The second semester brought increased activity for the Senior Executive Board, which consists of class officers and representatives from each homeroom on the well-trodden third floor of R. H. S. . . Working with Miss Nichols, our class adviser, they laid plans for the rapidly approaching commencement activities. . . Senior Prom, Class Day, Senior Picnic, Baccalaureate, and Graduation Day itself. . . Among the first committees selected was the Cap and Gown Committee. . . Just being measured for caps and gowns made Graduation Day seem unbelievably close. . .

SENIOR EXECUTIVE BOARD

TRAFFIC SQUAD

Mrs. Tilton and Miss Underhill

Throughout the year members of the Traffic Squad ruled the jaywalkers of our corridors with an iron hand. . . while the office staff, Mrs. Tilton and Miss Underhill, untiringly and pleasantly carried out their duties under our headmaster, Mr. Sussmann. . . The Student Council, representatives of the student body of R. H. S., with President Richard Spinney and Secretary Merelyn Daniels, capably directed numerous school activities. . . And all the year round, Responsibility, shared by all the individuals on these pages, was a vital factor at R. H. S.

STUDENT COUNCIL

sociability

"The disposition to associate and converse with others" — judging by our own observations and by the occasionally rather pointed comments of our elders, we'd say that very few high-schoolers are deficient in Sociability. We would add to Mr. Webster's definition that in our opinion Sociability entails getting along well with others, and learning to deepen acquaintance into friendship.

cheerleaders' dance

The Spirit of the football season reached its climax at the Cheerleaders' Dance. . . colorful decorations gaily transported the dancers to the South Sea Islands. . . between dances, many relaxed on the "decks" while enjoying a coke or two. . . Ann, Sally, Gretchen, Marcia, Carol, Jean, Liz, Gerrie, Charlotte, and Nancy succeeded in planning one of the very best dances R.H.S. has ever had.

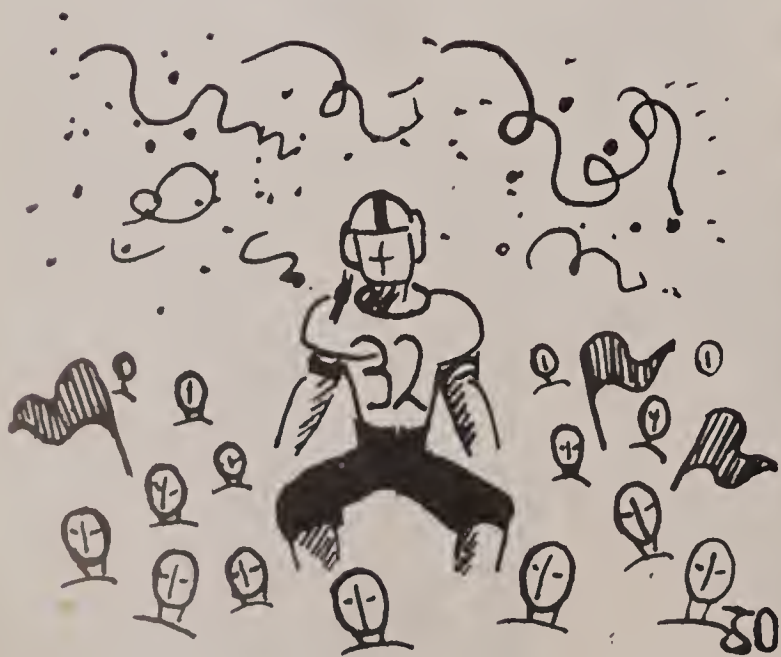

The traditional highlight of the evening came when Bill Cutcliffe, our football captain, pinned corsages on the Football Queen, Goodie Flater, and her attendant, Billie Porter. . .a worthy custom inaugurated by the class of '52. . .When the cruise ended, everyone, especially those hardworking cheerleaders, had thoroughly enjoyed the many hours of dancing to Doug Morley's Orchestra. . .but, oh, Gretchen's poor feet!

Sports events always help to foster a sociable spirit. . . The football season finds R. H. S. graduates and undergraduates alike rooting the Rockets on to victory. . . and renewing old friendships as well as satisfying healthy appetites between halves at the Boosters Club Canteen. . . Annually, sports enthusiasts from the whole community gather at the Football Banquet to talk over the highlights of the season just past and to applaud the achievements of the players. . .

Lunch time is one of the highlights of the day. . .It is in the cafeteria that we discuss the morning news between mouthfuls of the delicious food that Mrs. Mullen and Mrs. Johnson cheerfully prepare. . .or catch up on the latest prospects for a successful baseball season from the coach . . .Warm weather leads groups out of doors to continue the exchange of vital pieces of news. . .but winter usually means staying inside for a fast game of volleyball.

Among the most familiar sights at R. H. S. are Mrs. Miller and Mr. Broussard — always on the job doing their best to keep everything tidy within our old and hallowed walls. . . Lockers serve as more than repositories for books and coats . . . they are centers of news and many a spontaneous plan for a good time. . . The Big Parade. . . as we pass between classes. . . occurs eight times daily. . . a friendly breather before the next big dose of learning. . .

sophomore hop

The Sophomore Hop, an annual event held during the first semester, gives the newest class an opportunity to get together for a gala evening. . .The Class of 1956 made their dance a decided social success. . .Holiday decorations, delicious refreshments, and wonderful music gave everyone the Christmas spirit. . .To thank Miss Chiesa, class adviser, for all her cooperation, the class presented her with a corsage. . .

LITTLE ORCHESTRA

Martha Mathews, Robert Smith, Robert Noseworthy, Edgar Cook, Mr. Wegiel, Robert Almeida, William Geary, Richard Hodges, John O'Donnell.

Often in the afternoon we hear the earnest efforts of the group called the "Little Orchestra" as melodious sounds are wafted from the Music Room. . .The audience at the Senior Play was among the first to enjoy the results of this frequent practice when the orchestra played several selections between the acts. . .This congenial little group of musicians affords a good example of the spirit of sociability.

confidence

Whenever a teacher assigns an oral report of some kind, groans of anguish inevitably result; but it is only through constant practice in performing before others that we may acquire poise and self-assurance. Many high-school activities — all the way from discussions in class to participation in dramatics — help us to develop our important key of Confidence.

CHEERLEADERS

Ann O'Brien, Sally Leighton, Gretchen Vedder, Marcia Johnson, Carol Stevenson, Jean Corindia, Elizabeth Bellows, Geraldine Johnson, Charlotte Cryts, Nancy Hall.

"You got it? Well, let's go!" Sore throats and hoarse voices were a common occurrence during most of the football season . . . Our ten peppy cheerleaders led the crowds at the football and basketball games in colorful, intricate, and new cheers . . . This year the girls worked very hard to buy their new navy blue and red uniforms . . . The group held many rallies both in and out of school to show the teams that the school was right behind them with the winning spirit. . .

Not all the interest at football games is provided by the teams . . . our colorful Baton Squad entertained the spectators at half-time by forming many intricate figures in conjunction with the Band . . . win or lose, the Reading Band, composed of both junior and senior high students, enthusiastically played our victory songs, having worked hard at rehearsals for many weeks . . . In February, ten of our outstanding twirlers entered the competition at Norwood. . .

BATON SQUAD

senior play

PLAY READING COMMITTEE

Paul Carlson, Jane Decatur, Leigh Bangs, James Blake, Ann Christensen, Phyllis McKie, Jack Frost, Rita Bazso, William Crawford, Jane Madden.

After studying many plays, the Senior Play Reading Committee decided upon a comedy entitled "Spring Fever" . . . All action and interest centered around Mrs. Spangler's boarding house on a college campus . . . The play revealed the problems of her student boarders, majors in zoology, chemistry, art, and journalism . . . A college supporter tied to a hat rack, a fake doctor, a pretended illness, a flunking student and his aunt added to the plot . . . The play contained many surprises for the audience, including several effectively created explosions. . .

CAST OF CHARACTERS

Howard Brant.....	William Crawford
Ed Burns.....	Jack Frost
Vic Lewis.....	Kenneth McKie
Lou Herron.....	Jane deBrigard
Mrs. Spangler.....	Jane Decatur
Anne Purcell.....	Judith Jellison
Vivian George.....	Ruth Campbell
Henry Purcell.....	Paul Carlson
Phoebe Purcell.....	Marcia Johnson
Maude Corey.....	Irene Carleton
Professor Virgil Bean.....	Leigh Bangs
Dr. Dixon.....	Roger O'Shea

Under the direction of Mr. Arthur L. Spencer and Student Director Marilyn Brown, the hidden talent of twelve Seniors was brought into full bloom . . . Meanwhile, the busy Property Committee searched many homes in a fruitful quest for the proper furniture . . . At the performance, willing stage hands changed scenery and produced the necessary sound effects . . . The indispensable Costume Committee was on hand to assist the cast with clothes and changes . . . and the makeup artists did a wonderful job for both performances. . .

TECHNICAL CREW

Richard Stosez, Bruce Batting, James Blake.

TICKET SELLERS

Marilyn Beck, Patricia Evans, Barbara Gerrior.

CANDY GIRLS

Dorothy Kennedy, Marguerite Frasco, Joan Silva, Marilyn Rogers, Barbara Richardson, Barbara Snow, Sally Leighton, Sally Fitzpatrick.

The girls in charge of tickets, under the direction of Miss Nichols, were highly successful both in selling the tickets and in keeping the money straight . . . The proceeds went into the fund which the Senior Class has been building since its sophomore year . . . This fund helps to pay for the senior activities, such as the Senior Banquet and the events connected with graduation, as well as our class gift . . . As the big night arrived, beautifully gowned girls were on hand with the programs. . .

PROGRAM GIRLS

USHERS

Wendell McIntire, Edwin Healy, Bernard Barron, William Cutcliffe, Gerald Surette, Donald Dolben, George Peach, Edward Webb.

CANDY GIRLS

Lois Bartosch, Joanne Oldenbrook, Anne Surette, Geraldine Johnson, Beverly Brown, Elizabeth Bellows, Phyllis McKie, Mary Jane Crock.

TICKET SELLERS

Marilyn J. Brown, Mary Lou Bennett, Virginia White.

The candy girls appreciated the help which Miss Zimmermann and Miss Batchelder gave them with their candy between the acts . . . Each girl made the gaily decorated box which she carried . . . Because of the large number of Seniors who volunteered to participate in the activities connected with the play, a different group of candy girls, program girls, ticket sellers, and ushers assisted each night . . . The ushers were kept extremely busy, as "Spring Fever" in November attracted many people. . .

PROGRAM GIRLS

Arthur Fraumeni, Michael Donnelly, Melvin Jones, William Cutcliffe, Donald Dolben, Hugh Ross, Donald Upton.

Confidence was not very evident among the actors as curtain time approached. . .Weak knees, fluttering hearts, makeup, and a short amount of time was all the cast could claim about an hour before the curtain went up. . .As Jane's makeup was applied, everyone wondered how Ruthie, engrossed in her magazine, could appear so calm. . .Last-minute adjustments showed that time was getting short. . .When the curtain had risen and the play was started, our actors and actresses found their confidence and no prompting was needed. . .

Cooperation

Among the many worthwhile characteristics which high-school life helps us to develop, Cooperation is one of the most vital. The ability to work with others is an important part of high-school training. Football, basketball, baseball, golf, and track all instill in the participants the spirit of sportsmanship and cooperation so essential to our American life.

Reading High's football season got off to a shaky start as the Rockets lost to a more experienced team from Wellesley. . . After another defeat, this one by Swampscott, the team, led by Bill Cutcliffe, got under way by defeating Danvers. . . As the season progressed, the Rockets lost to Woburn, but came back to defeat Methuen. . . In the game with Winchester, always a high point in the season, R. H. S. was overcome by a heavier and stronger team. . .

seniors

We'd like to think that the Seniors possess all the valuable traits necessary for successful and happy living. However, we know that character-building is a continuous process which can go on throughout our lives. In this section of our book, devoted entirely to the graduating class, we include the Class History, the Graduation Program, and the Seniors' pictures and profiles.

class

As graduation and the time of parting draw near, we of the Class of 1954 are able to reminisce with nostalgia on three well-filled years at Reading High School. As we look back, we see that all the phases of our high school program — social, athletic, student government, and scholastic — have contributed to our future preparedness, on the job, in college, or in the armed forces.

The first chord in our symphony of preparation was struck when, as Sophomores, in 1952, we began to contribute to the life of our school. During this year we were led by the following officers: President, George Peach; Vice-President, Gudrun Flater; Secretary, Marilyn Brown; Treasurer, Linda Long. Mrs. Wadsworth served us as Class Adviser.

Our first social endeavor was the Sophomore Hop, a dance which set the standards for future class dances. Although our class was well represented on various school teams, our main contribution to athletics lay in providing many avid rooters for the Red-and-Black at every competition. Those chilly afternoons on the football field did much to increase our school spirit, and gave us a sense of belonging.

Scholastically, we managed to hold our own, and after braving the rigors of final exams we passed into the second movement of our score.

Our junior year was one which is memorable for both the quantity and the quality of class activities. The class officers for this year were President, Herbert Scheiner; Vice-President, Gudrun Flater; Secretary, Marilyn Brown; Treasurer, Linda Long. We were advised by Mrs. Franzen.

Because our graduation was in sight, we were very much occupied with our studies, but not so much so that we could not contribute a great deal to school life. Our Junior Prom was a successful event that continues to stand out in our minds. In the sports area, many of our classmates became members of the varsity teams. These Juniors and those who joined the Dramatics Club, the Pioneer Staff, the Baton Squad, and other school groups, forecasted smooth sailing for our senior year.

June 1953 found us with mixed feelings — relief as we finished final exams; sadness as we bade farewell to the members of the Class of '53 at the Junior-Senior Reception; anticipation as we looked forward to being the first graduating class from the new high school; satisfaction at having attained the highest grade in the high school.

As we neared the end of our symphony, the tempo increased, for we were not to be the first seniors in the new high school, but rather the last in the old; and we determined to make our senior year one of the most active the old building had seen. The activity started in the fall, when the RHS football team, captained by Billy Cutcliffe, finished a successful season by defeating Stoneham on Thanksgiving Day. Everybody, it seems, enjoyed cheering for the Rockets and watching the Baton Squad and cheerleaders go through their paces.

At the end of the football season, the ball was passed to those who were concerned with the Senior Play, and "Spring Fever" enjoyed a very successful two-night stand. With midyears approaching, we began to approach the finale scholastically, with college board classes, guidance forms, and plans for the future occupying much of our time. It was also about this time that photographers appeared on the scene — another sign that preparation of The Pioneer was in progress.

Midyears and college board exams having passed, we entered the home stretch. The Senior Executive Board and our senior class officers — William Cutcliffe, President; Gudrun Flater, Vice-President; Marilyn Brown, Secretary; and Linda Long, Treasurer — began to work doubly hard in order to attend to all the details of our last few months at Reading High School. Much energy was devoted to making our Senior Prom the memorable occasion that it was. Baccalaureate, Class Day, and the Senior Banquet passed in rapid succession. Finally, with Graduation Day at hand, we knew that our stay in high school was one of the best periods of our lives.

As the last bar of our symphony is played, we of the Class of 1954 have many affectionate memories of friendships and experiences. We extend our thanks to the faculty, who have devoted themselves to preparing us for our future careers. We know that our gratitude will grow with the years, as we come to a fuller realization of what their devotion has done for us.

OUR REWARD

as Official Photographer for the Class of 1954 is in knowing that the students of Reading High School have received the finest in Photographic service.

IN YEARS TO COME

we would enjoy working with the graduating class and yearbook staff as much as we have this year.

NEXT YEAR

let us assist you.
